YOUNG LADY HEADED THE MOB

WITH DISHEVELED HAIR AND PISTOL IN HAND

She Ordered the Mob to Bring Out Her Assailant, and Then String Him Up.

Belair, Md., March 27.—Last night, with her disheveled hair flying and with a pistol in her right hand, Miss Annie McIlwaine led a mob of two hundred men in an attack upon the jail in which was confined Lewis Harris, a negro who assaulted Miss McIlwaine yesterday. Under her direction the mob dragged Harris from the cell and led him down the street to a big tree. After he had confessed they hanged him, and riddled his body with bullets. During the attack on the jail several shots were fired and two men were wounded by the sheriff's shots.

JUNK EATER OPENED.

A High Point Physician Saw The Interesting Operation.

Correspondence of the Telegram.
High Point, March 26.—The amount of stock wanted, $10,000, for a savings bank here is reported to have been subscribed and the bank will be started under a charter secured by Messrs. Ragan and Mills during a recent term of the legislature.

Dr. D. A. Stanton, while at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore, recently, witnessed an operation on Arthur Shutt, the dime museum freak who has been posing as the "human ostrich," in which a large quantity of iron, glass, etc., was removed from his stomach. For some time Shutt has been pretending to eat all kinds of glass, iron and the like, but the fake of the exhibition lay in his adroitness in palming the indigestible food. Medical students, hearing of his reputation, arranged for a private exhibition and frustrated his skill at palming by compelling him to remove his coat, without the sleeves of which he was helpless. He was caught, but in order to win the bet and keep the audience from discerning the fake he deliberately ate the junk he had intended to palm.

The case in question is attracting considerable attention among the medical fraternity and people in Baltimore, and Dr. Stanton was lucky to be present at an operation on such a remarkable freak of human nature. The following is an inventory of the young man's stomach: Seventy-two nails from one to one and one half inches long, nineteen nails four inches long, one pocket knife, seven knife handles, nine horse shoe nails, eleven pins, two screwdrivers, forty-nine tacks, a small staple, 25 grains ground glass, four brass watch chains, with catches and stays, twelve and one half feet of three-eighths inch iron chain.

Mrs. O. L. Sapp and children, of Asheboro, were in the city Saturday.

W. J. Armfield came over from Asheboro yesterday.

H. L. Carter, of Greensboro, was here Saturday.

Personal property belonging to Will G. Kirkman was sold Saturday afternoon in front of Sapp's racket store.

Never a Roman Conqueror Received a Prouder Triumph.

To the Editor of the Telegram: For years Oak Ridge Institute has been going down to Chapel Hill for its "Annual drubbing" at the hands of the University base ball team.

For once we gloriously turned the tables on them, and got "retribution" to the tune of 8 to 4.

THANKED THE MAYOR.

The Action of the Board of Aldermen on the Sale of the City's First Bonds.

Greensboro ought to be gratified at the high price the city bonds brought—111.19. This shows that outside financiers regard the town as on a pretty firm basis.—Charlotte News.

Of course the outsiders regard the town as on a pretty fair basis; likewise our own people.

The News' reference to our bond sale, however, reminds us of a conversation lately had with a citizen of Greensboro who recollects the first time the town ever sold bonds. It was about 20 years ago. They were sold for street improvement and the issue was $100,000, bearing six per cent.

After the bonds had been sold, the board of aldermen went so jubilant that they passed a vote of thanks to the mayor for his successful efforts in getting such a handsome price for the six per cent. How much did he get? Why, par, which was a great price for municipal bonds in those days.

Thanks to Mayor Taylor's untiring efforts, as well as to the natural increase in value of the city's bonds, those sold last week bearing only 5 per cent, brought 111.19. We don't think the aldermen "turned" Mayor Taylor a vote of thanks, but they ought to have done so.

Finding a Mine.

Two cowboys and several sticks of dynamite were suddenly and unexpectedly discovered the Hunipit mines near Kings Mountain. The cowboys were on their way across the territory, and they had with them several sticks of dynamite, to be used when they reached the Colorado river. One day they camped some seven miles north of where Kings Mountain now is. They left the dynamite among some boulders at a distance from the camp for safe keeping. The day was unusually hot, and in some unaccountable way the dynamite went off. The cowboys hurried to the place of explosion, and even their inexperienced eyes saw that the dynamite had blown a gold mine into their pockets. As high as $25,000 a month has been taken out of this mine—Philadelphia Times.

Nassau's Big Tree.

In Nassau, the capital city of the Bahama Islands, they say "the tree in the public square" is not the tree.

Now the public square of Nassau is quite as large as that of most cities of the size, but there is only one tree in it, and that tree literally fills the square and spreads its shade over all the public buildings in the neighborhood. For it is the largest tree in the world at its base, although it is hardly taller than a three story house. It is variously known as a cecilia or a silk cotton tree, but the people of the low islands of the West Indies call it the hurricane tree; for no matter how hard the wind blows it cannot disturb the mighty, buttressed trunk of the cecilia.

Its trunk throws out great curving, windlike branches, some of them 20 feet wide and nearly as high. These extend into the ground on all sides and brace the tree against all attack, while the great branches cast a thick shade overhead. In the tropic sunshine of midsummer, hundreds, even thousands, of people may gather in the cool of its shadow. No one knows how old the tree is, but it must have been growing hundreds, if not thousands, of years. A very old picture in the library at Nassau shows the tree as big as it is at present, and even the oldest negro in the island cannot remember when it was a bit smaller.—Washington Post.

Tom Corwin's Ready Wit.

Governor John Branch was once mentioned against Corwin and in his speech said:

"Gentlemen, my honored opponent himself, while he preaches advocacy of home industry, has a carriage at home which he got in England; had it shipped across the water to him. How is that for supporting home industry and labor?"

When Corwin came to the stand, he made a great show of embarrassment. He stammered and began slowly:

"Well, gentlemen, you have heard what my friend Mr. Branch has to say about my carriage. I have not said it to the charge, and I have only two things to say in my defense. The first is that the carriage came to me from an English ancestor as my heirloom, and I had to take it. Again, I have not said it for seven years, and it has been standing in my back yard all that time, and the chickens have converted it into a roost. Now, gentlemen," with a steady gaze at Branch, "I have nothing further to say in my defense, but I would like to know how Branch knows anything about my carriage if he has not been visiting my henroost?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A RECURRENCE TO SAVAGERY.

There has scarcely ever come to us in one week the news of two more heinous crimes than was brought last week. Neither of them is ever excelled in brutality, because each of them went to the lowest depth. A negro man in Wake county, with feline deliberation, went to the house of a woman, and, with axe, dashed out her brains as she slept, and then turned and with the same reckless instrument murdered her eldest daughter. But this was only the beginning of his crime. While her dead body lay there with her one dead child by it and the other six sleeping ones, he struck a match and set the bedding afire, with the intention of destroying all. Two of them escaped, leaving six victims, one of them his own child. Was there anything more horrible than that? Perhaps not.

But here is another case as bad. Though there was but one victim the horror of the crime was intensified by the fact that there were three murderers, and they were men, supposed to be less low in the scale of humanity than the monstrous brute who slew the mother and burned the children. These white men for some reason enticed a young white woman off into the woods and deliberately hacked her arms to pieces as they were held up in pleading for her life, then set fire to her clothing and allowed her to die through the woods till every rag was burned off and her body fell a charred mass of flesh. True the woman was impure, but what excuse was that for such a deed. How could men so far forget the God who made them? Is it possible that men who do such deeds have ever had mother's love or training?

Scientists say there is a reversion of species; there may be a reversion to savagery. Such crimes may have been natural to man removed but a step from the brute, and when they occur now it must be in answer to a recurring instinct of thousands of years ago. To contemplate such fiendishness is sickening.

APPROVAL OR SILENCE AS A POLICY.

The Salisbury Truth-Index of yesterday afternoon, in a well tempered editorial, in reply to one which recently appeared in the Telegram under the caption of "Liberty and Rot," says: "The Greensboro Telegram in its issue of the 24th has an editorial under the above head, in which it speaks of 'many of the newspapers' following Mr. Bryan's absurd talk of the 'international land grabbing trust,' and antagonizes the teachings of those papers which represent the opinions of nine-tenths of the democrats of the United States, and also of many republicans, and joins the imperialist chorus, declaring that our magnificent opportunities are being sacrificed at the dictation of 'miserable party politics.'"

Our excellent contemporary certainly brings a grave charge against Mr. Bryan, and a graver one against the "many newspapers," which as it charges, are the tools of Mr. Bryan, merely following his "absurd talk," as it pleases to call his opposition to imperialism, which is wholly lacking in fact and which it cannot substantiate. We may have spoken a little more warmly than the occasion demanded. If so, we are grateful to our contemporary for calling our attention to the fact in an editorial which we take in as kindly a spirit as we think it was offered. However, we must object to some of the conclusions drawn by our contemporary from the article in question. We characterized Mr. Bryan's talk of an "international land grabbing trust" as absurd, not his opposition to imperialism, which is what is known as imperialism, and we charged newspaper with being a tool of anybody or anything, but merely said that they "talk as if the United States went into the Philippines with a block and chain in one hand and a whip in the other with the avowed intention of putting every one of its inhabitants into chattel slavery." If Mr. Bryan's phrase, "the international land grabbing trust" means anything, it means that the United States has entered an agreement with one or more powerful nations to wrench from weaker peoples their landed possessions, that is, that this government has deliberately entered on a plan of robbery. No such thing as this exists, and hence any talk to that effect is absurd, even if Mr. Bryan did use it. We call the attention of our contemporary to the fact that the United States is in the Philippines today as an inevitable result of the war with Spain, which Mr. McKinley did his best to avert. Now it may be also recalled that Mr. Bryan was so enthusiastic for this war that he enlisted, and that most of the newspapers who are hounding Mr. McKinley for trying to work out the results of that war as best he can, and as his conscience dictates, were most vociferous in denouncing him for not rushing into the war. It is sometimes good to raise our vision above the horizon of the present moment, even if it is disagreeable.

Of course there is vast room for disagreement, honest disagreement, on the question of the foreign policy of this country. It would be a marvel if there were not on so great a subject—a crucial one. We only insist that when those who disagree with us talk of repealing the Declaration of Independence, etc., etc., they shall give some definite meaning to their words, and if Mr. Bryan's words do not mean what we interpreted them, we should like enlightenment. But what we are mainly concerned about in the Truth-Index's article is this:

We wonder if there are no "miserable party politics" on the imperialist side. The Truth-Index for one, has convictions and never advocates any measure the editor does not conscientiously approve. It will not however antagonize the democratic party, which it believes is the hope of the preservation of our free institutions and the betterment of the masses of our people. If it cannot approve, it will be silent.

Certainly there are miserable party politics among the advocates of "the other side," nasty, brutal politics, as evidenced by the present disgraceful squabble over Porto Rico. But the Truth-Index objects to our telling but half the truth. Its policy would be, from the above, to condemn the wrong on "the other side" and say nothing about the wrong on our side. A half truth is sometimes the worst of lies. By asking our contemporary a question we will dismis this already long drawn out article; it is this:

How long does it think the democratic party will remain "the hope of the preservation of our free institutions and the betterment of the masses of our people" if it were never to have a friend so good as to tell it when it does wrong or had members to speak out when they see it going the wrong course? Suppose its members were all silent when they could not approve, how long does our contemporary judge that the party would be fit for anything but to be cast out of the esteem of men?

NATIONAL PARK TALK.

Special to the Telegram.
Washington, March 27.—The bill pending in congress for the establishment of a national park in Western North Carolina is receiving considerable support. The North Carolina delegation in the house are supporting the measure as a unit, and are striving to get action on it during the present session of congress. Senators Prihod and Butler are also trying to get the measure acted upon during the present session of congress. The junior senator from North Carolina the other day presented a petition from the Raleigh Chamber of Commerce in support of the bill. It is hardly thought, however, that action will be secured on this bill at the present session, although as stated the members are urging the passage of the bill. Dr. and Mrs. Butler, of Edgewood, South Carolina, have been in Washington for several weeks, and have just returned to their home. While in Washington he took a special course of study in a branch of medicine in which he is particularly interested, at the Columbian University. Dr. Butler is a young man and a physician, it is said, of much promise. His home is at Edgewood, which is also the home of Ex-Senator Butler.

Congressman Bellamy has had a postoffice named after himself in Robeson county, North Carolina, which is a new office, and which as heretofore reported has just been established by order of the postoffice department. Mr. Bellamy is one of the most popular members of the North Carolina delegation, and is a particular favorite among the postoffice department officials.

Among prominent Virginia people in the city is Hon. St. George Tucker, former member of congress from the Tenth Virginia district, and a prominent democrat. Mr. Tucker is a member of the executive committee of the American Bar Association, which is to hold its annual session in this city, convening next Wednesday.

Mr. Tucker was at the executive mansion yesterday and paid his respects to President McKinley, with whom he served in congress a number of years, and for whom he has a very high personal admiration. A marriage license was granted in this city yesterday to Robert B. Gardner, of Round Hill, Virginia, and Julia W. Wilson, of Salisbury, North Carolina. The couple were married in this city yesterday. They will reside in the future, it is understood at Round Hill.

The democratic county convention of Craven met at Newbern Saturday. Resolutions endorsing Charles R. Thomas for congress, Chas. B. Acok for governor and F. M. Simmons for senator were passed. The session was an exciting one, and the Journal intimates that the local colored line of the party was thoroughly and satisfactorily washed. James A. Bryan, Esq., made an elaborate defence of matters connected with the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad. J. A. Meadows, Esq., indignantly denied the right of the convention to gag any one with promises and solemn oaths to support a national candidate months ahead of a national convention and a platform to stand upon.

ANOTHER GREAT REFORM.

The National Reform Association is going to tackle the Constitution Correspondence of the Telegram.
Charlotte, March 26.—Tomorrow, if no new cases should unexpectedly develop, Charlotte will be entirely free from smallpox for the first time in months. The last and only case at the pest house will be discharged tomorrow. In the county though, things are not so hopeful. At Paw Creek, 12 miles from Charlotte, where 10 cases were recently found, at least six more have developed, and the county physician says that there are several foci of contagion in that neighborhood which makes the probability of more cases very likely.

The Field secretary of the National Reform Association, Dr. M. H. George of Pittsburgh, inaugurated the one week's conference to be held in Charlotte this week, yesterday afternoon by addressing a mass meeting of citizens. Dr. George was one of the leading factors in the expulsion of Roberts from congress.

The National Reform Association has for its aim the establishment of a Christianized civil government. Dr. George took the position in his address yesterday that the constitution of the United States was wrong when it stated that the people were the power in this country. His claim is that Christ should be recognized in the constitution of the United States, and to this end he is now working.

The French Workman.
The French workman is the creature of the street for the sense of the joy of life and the creature of the home and the workshop for the sense of the hardship and sometimes of the sorrow. Fashioned as he is in this way, two outside forces contend for the possession of him. The question of questions is, "Will he take his guidance from the recognized agencies within the law or from the agencies of revolt?" The state and also, as we have seen, the church offer him all sorts of bribes and bonuses to consent to work in their way. They recognize his trade and self help societies. They try to get him to the altar as a devotee and to the urn as a voter. But he has heard of Utopias, and he longs to have one more struggle for absolute perfection at short notice, though he may have to lay down his life in the attempt.

The key to modern French history is to be found in police. Every political movement has to be a compromise between the aspirations of the faubourg and the world as it was. The French workman has been bred in the belief in revolution as a recognized agency of progress and by instinct and habit he loathes second best. The old order offers him the churches, the thrift and benefit societies, co-operation, insurance against sickness, education, technical and other—the old political economy, in a word, and the paternal state. The new whispers socialism, the commune, anarchy sometimes with the threat of the barricade.—Richard Whiting in Century.

Misunderstood Patriotism.
Professor Alfred B. Adams of New York was a soldier in the civil war and took part in the Red river campaign under Major General Nathaniel T. Banks.

"At one place," he said recently to one of his classes, "we surprised a southern garrison and took many prisoners. They were guarded on gunboats of cotton bales which were intended for shipment to Europe on account of the southern government. General Banks promptly commanded the cotton and transferred it to his fleet. Each bale was stenciled 'C. S. A.' and over this the northern soldiers with marking brushes wrote in huge characters 'U. S. A.' I was on guard at the time, and one of my prisoners, a handsome, bright eyed young southern officer, said, 'Yank, what's that writing there?'"

"I looked proudly at him as I replied: 'The United States of America over the Confederate States of America. Can't you read—U. S. A. over C. S. A.?' "He looked at me quizzically. "Thank you," he said. "Do you know, I thought it was United States of American Cotton Stealing Association." "The next question he put to me I didn't answer."—Saturday Evening Post.

Baths and Fatigue.
Professor K. Beidwald says that when the body is fatigued or the brain has been overtaxed by excessive mental work it is very wrong to take a cold bath. Such a practice, he says, and if we add this to the already excited state of the body the result seems rejuvenating for the moment, but very soon the tension becomes too great and the body cannot be forced to do more work.

According to the professor, a warm bath is the only kind to be applied when one wishes to recover from fatigue, and the longer a bath remains in a bath of, say, 70 degrees the quieter become the strained nerves and the easier follows the sought for rest.

In the morning, after a good night's rest, a cold bath is very invigorating, but at no time during the day, if the nerves are strained, should it be repeated.

Packing For Moving.
"If you will only pack things in small boxes," says the woman who knows how to move, "you will have the men who move you in a comparatively better state of mind; boxes, for instance. It is strange, but every woman who has books to move immediately gets the biggest box she can find for them. Books are heavy anyway, and big boxes are liable to break with their weight, and it is almost impossible to move them. They will fit just as well into small square boxes in which packages of starch or oatmeal have come, and they will pack into the moving van better, and the men can handle great numbers of them with little trouble."—New York Times.

A UNIQUE CEREMONY.

Gloucester's Annual Funeral For Her Lost Fishermen.
With each returning February there is held in the ancient town of Gloucester, Mass., a ceremony solemn in motive, impressive in form and absolutely unique in origin and character. It is Gloucester's day of mourning for the fishers who, during the preceding 12 months, have gone down to death on the distant fishing grounds. Headed by the clergy and community and by bereft relatives, the people of the town march in long and slow procession to the appointed place of meeting, where, during the remainder of the brief winter's day, in chant and prayer and formal addresses, the sorrow in which all share finds fitting and touching expression.

Everybody who lives in Gloucester is interested in the fishing industry, and so it falls out that the city's life is about equally made up of intervals of joy and sorrow. When summer opens, the general tone of public feeling is bright and hopeful, but at the end of the season, as the fishers come in, sad and weary, the tone changes. The poor fishing families through repeated tragedies at sea. The scenes in the fishing quarters during the late fall and winter months, when news of death is brought by some one returning boat, are most pathetic. Sometimes the news comes with a shock; at others, wives and children wait for weeks in anxiety, and never know the details of the fate of their loved ones.—Truth.

TRAPPED BY LETTER.

Evidences Are All Anxious to Hear From the Women They Love.

"It is queer what risks some men will take to get a letter from a woman they love," said an official of the general delivery department of the post-office. "Criminals who can be found in no other way are often arrested when they call for mail at the general delivery window. Generally the men call for letters written by some woman."

"Along close to the holidays last year a Boston detective called on the office and asked for three days and nights for a man wanted in the east. The detective knew that before the murder he was accused of committing the man and woman in the east. The man was waiting three days, when he received word to go to Columbus, O., as there was a letter at that office for the man. He went and did not hear there that when the man made his appearance. The detective arrested him at once and proceeded to Cleveland, where the prisoner was tried and sentenced to death."

"Another instance was where not long ago the authorities were looking for a man accused of committing some big crime and had no clue at all as to where he was. So every postoffice in the country was sent word to look out for a letter for that man. Some time after one came to our office, and we at once notified the authorities. A detective came on immediately, and when the man asked for his mail he was at once arrested."—Indianapolis News.

Firing Big Guns.
The bigger the gun the shorter its life. Those were the words of a gunner who could not be reckoned upon to fire more than 80 full charge rounds without becoming quite useless. The 67 ton gun can fire 105 rounds, while the 6 inch breech loader is good for 400 or 450 full charge rounds.

The reason of this is that the terrific heat and corroding effect of the powder wear away the bore at the chamber end, and then the shell does not catch the rifling.

There is nothing for it then but to send the gun to the factory and have the barrel bored and lined with a new tube.

Eighty shots from a 110 pound gun would be good business in any war. Where the inconvenience arises is in the fact that during peace the men cut practice as much as desirable. Still there is a way out of it to a certain extent, for it is found that a half charge, which is sufficient for practice, will do as much damage as a full charge, and even a third of a full charge is powerful enough.

Now a 110 ton gun, though it can fire only 80 full charge rounds, can fire 400 quarter charges and 320 half charges.—New York Telegram.

Nature's Drain.
A careful survey of the underground water courses in the carboniferous limestone district of Yorkshire, England, has revealed the fact that there exists in that country an extensive system of subterranean streams, many of which issue miles away from the points called "springs," where the water drained from the surface enters the ground. The phenomenon in other parts of the world, not yet so fully investigated, occurs on a much larger scale, and recent studies of the ocean bottom near the border of continental shelves have revealed a considerable size sometimes enter the sea beneath the surface.

THAT THROBBING HEADACHE.
The woman who is lovely in face form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wreathed complexion. Electric filters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 60 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store.

BRAVE MEN FALL.

Victims to stomach, liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Indiana, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a case like mine. I was run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents at C. E. Holton's drug store. Every bottle guaranteed.

SGROFULA AND ITS AWFUL HORRORS
—CURED BY—
Johnston's Sarsaparilla
QUART BOTTLES.
A MOST WONDERFUL CURE.
A Grand Old Lady Gives Her Experience.
Mrs. Thankful Orilla Hurd lives in the beautiful village of Brighton, Livingston Co., Mich. This venerable and highly respected lady was born in the year 1812, the year of the great war, in Hebron, Washington Co., New York. She came to Michigan in 1840, the year of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." All her faculties are excellently preserved, and possessing a very retentive memory, her mind is full of interesting reminiscences of her early life, of the early days of the State of Michigan and the interesting and remarkable people she has met, and the stirring events of which she was a witness. But nothing in her varied and manifold recollections are more marvellous and worthy of attention than are her experiences in the use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. Mrs. Hurd inherited a tendency and predisposition to scrofula, that terribly destructive taint which has cursed and is cursing the lives of thousands and making thousands more victims of the death angel. Transmitted from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family in one form or another. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in unsightly swellings in the neck or groin, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may be known as catarrh in the head, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

Speaking of her case, Mrs. Hurd says: "I was troubled for many years with a bad skin disease. My arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. My neck began to swell and became very sore. My blood was in a very bad condition and my head ached severely at frequent intervals, and I had no appetite. I had sores also in my ears. All these troubles, however, I had tried every remedy that had been recommended, but to no avail. I tried a bottle, more as an experiment than anything else, as I had no faith in it, and greatly to my agreeable surprise, I began to grow better. You can be sure I kept on taking it. I took a great many bottles. But I steadily improved until I became entirely well. All the sores healed up, all the bad symptoms disappeared, and they pained me no more. I have never been troubled with scrofula since. Of course an old lady of 88 years is not a young woman, but I have had remarkably good health since then, and I firmly believe that JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA is the greatest blood purifier and the best medicine in the wide world, both for scrofula and as a spring medicine." This remarkably interesting old lady did life was saved by JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA.

When winter comes the vital forces of nature are low, and the tree-stands like a solitary monument to the dead summer. In the winter of life, active men experience a similar lowering of vitality. In some the effect is startling. They lose their grip on life. They seem like monuments of a buried past. At this crisis there is need of a medicine which will nourish and build up the body, and increase its vital power. Such a medicine is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It enriches the blood, purifies it, carries off the clogging waste of the system, increases the nutrition of the body, and produces a sound, healthy condition with abundant vital power and physical energy.

Dr. J. C. Jones, Ohio Co., Ky., writes: "When I began taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I had nervous and general debility of three years duration. I took three bottles of the Discovery. During the time I was taking it my sleep became more refreshing and I gained fifteen pounds weight. I also gained strength every day. I have been able to do my work since I took the medicine and I will have reasonable health. I am willing to have my name published in this paper, and if it proves to be of benefit to any afflicted person, I will feel that I have done my duty. There is no alcohol or other intoxicant in 'Golden Medical Discovery,' neither opium or other narcotic drugs. The dealer who offers a substitute for the 'Discovery' is seeking to profit himself, not to help you. Insist on having 'Golden Medical Discovery.' Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free, on receipt of stamps to cover cost of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for edition in paper cover, or 31 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y."

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.
During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. S. Edwards, publisher of the Review, Wyart, Ill. For sale by C. E. Holt, druggist.

GLORIOUS NEWS
Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. This shows that thousands have proved, that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, cures all poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holt, druggist. Guaranteed.

COLD STEEL OR DEATH
"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is by an operation." Was the awful prospect set before Mrs. L. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wisconsin, by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jaundice. He didn't count on the marvelous powers of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price fifty cents at C. E. Holt's drug store.

Fairly Good Time.
Seated on a Topeka railroad lunch counter the other day were four old Santa Fe engineers. They were telling of fast runs. Three of them had told their stories. "The fastest run I ever made," said the fourth, after listening to the lies of the others, "was between Topeka and Emporia not long ago. It was a bright moonlight night. We were behind when we pulled out of Topeka and the conductor came on all the time between here and Emporia. After reaching the top of the Pauline hill I pulled the throttle wide open and let her go. The old engine fairly ate up the track. We were stopped at Emporia, I looked back a mile or so and saw something black approaching. I could not think what it was. I watched it closely. Finally it came up opposite the engine and stopped. It was the shadow of the train."—Kansas City Journal.

A Safe Risk.
She—Are you superstitious?
He—No; I think not. But why do you ask?
She—Was going to get you a pocket-knife for a birthday present, but some one told me the gift of anything sharp cuts friendship.
He—Oh, I'll risk it. I'm sure a knife selected by a woman would cut anything.—Chicago News.

Veranality.
Athletic Applicant—Do you need a strong man?
Manager (of a dime museum)—No, I have one. But I'd give $75 a week for a good living skeleton.
Athletic Applicant—All right. I can turn down to it in a month.—Chicago Tribune.

More to His Advantage.
"Dicky, people should live to help one another."
"Yes, ma, but I'd get more life if you'd let me help myself."—Chicago Record.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.
A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver, of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by him as follows: "I was in a most deplorable condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides; no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued its use for three weeks and am now a well man. I know they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one would fail to try them. Only 50 cents per bottle at C. E. Holt's drug store.

Rev. E. W. Stitzer, W. Canton, N. Y., writes: "I had dyspepsia over twenty years, and tried doctors and medicines without benefit. I was persuaded to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it helped me from the start. I believe it to be a panacea for all forms of indigestion." It digests what you eat. Howard Gardner.

How Far Apart Did They Live?
"It was at the capital one day," said a Boston lawyer, "in attendance upon a committee having in charge a bill in which my clients are interested. On the long, leather covered settee near me two southern members were smoking and conversing. The following words were jotted down by me verbatim:
"Majah, I was down among you people last summer, and I wanted to get General Blood's plantation, but I got off my road. Where does he live from you place, majah?
"Why, colonel, he lives near me, a right smart piece south on the river."
"Does he live a right smart smart piece or a right smart right smart piece south, majah?
"Well, it isn't as far as either of those pieces; just a right smart piece, colonel."
"Then that must be the reason I missed it. I went too far around the river bend to get the life of me I can't solve the question. It haunted me so that I stumbled two or three times when subsequently making my argument before the committee, of which these two members formed a part."—Washington Star.

Sapphires Not All Blue.
"It is commonly believed that the sapphire is known only as a gem of a rich velvety blue in color," observed an experienced dealer in precious stones to the writer the other day. "As a matter of fact, the sapphire occurs in various hues. In Ceylon, for instance, where the finest specimens of this gem are found, it ranges from the soft velvety blue to the peacock blue, graduated in shades from a most beautiful white. It also occurs in whites, greens and yellows, the latter shade being known as the oriental sapphire. The green sapphire is often found clouded or streaked with blue, so that many specimens are cut which are white when looked at transversely, but having a bit of blue that on the under point. Then there is the red sapphire, or Ceylon ruby. It is valued as highly as the finest Burmese rubies. Those most highly prized are of rich pigeon blood or rose red color.
"Some very fine sapphires have been found in Montana during the past ten years. The American gems are light blue, blue green, green and pink, but the deep blue and red stones, which are chiefly in demand as jewels, have so far been discovered only in the Orient of this country."—Washington Star.

The Rooster Was Gone.
A young man was the owner of a smart rooster and was long entertained suspicion that the bird might have inherited many characteristics from some long forgotten ancestor. To apply this theory in an actual test he went home the other night, surreptitiously conveyed the parlor mirror into the hen pen and held it before the gaze of the wondering rooster.
The young man was not long in suspense as to the bird's fighting qualities. After a brief, incredulous glance at the proud reflection in the glass the rooster descended upon the object with spirit and vigor, and in a few moments he was a broken, bleeding mass. He is now satisfied with the rooster, but how he squared himself about the matter he does not know.—Bangor Whig and Courier.

KNOCKED IN THE HEAD.

Dock Patterson Claims to Have Been Robbed Last Night.

A white man very much under the influence of liquor, giving his name as Dock Patterson, and talking from Chatham county, claims that he was knocked in the head by a negro last night and robbed of his valise, containing three suits of clothes. As he tells the story it is about as follows:

He is not very well acquainted with Greensboro, and was wandering about looking for a cheap place to stay all night. A colored man whom he does not know, volunteered to assist him and started off with him, telling him he knew a good place where he could get lodging for fifteen cents. Starting out through South Greensboro Patterson says he expressed fears that he would be robbed, whereupon the negro drew a pistol from his pocket and said if any one attempted to rob him he (the negro) would settle him in short order. This reassured Patterson and when somewhere in a dark place or Bragg street he told the negro he did not believe there was any boarding house out there. To this the negro quickly responded:

"No, there is no boarding house here, but I'll take care of you," and as he said this struck him on the head with the slingshot, knocking him down, and grabbing the valise, made off with it in the darkness. Patterson was found by some one in passing and carried to Kestler's drug store where his wound was dressed. There is an ugly hole in his head, but it is not thought to be serious.

The negro is not known, but the police is working on the case, and there is evidence in hand which may lead to the discovery and arrest of the robber.

Defied the Law.

Dr. Harrison found a big negro, named Moses McDaniell, in a house in the eastern part of town yesterday afternoon where there was a case of smallpox. The case was put in Chief Scott's hands, and this morning the negro was vaccinated and in addition is under a sentence of thirty days on the roads.

CONJUGIAL FELICITY.

Wife Sees Her Husband, Then Pursues and Robs Him.

Several days ago a woman giving her name as Mattie Southerland applied to a local justice of the peace for a warrant for the arrest of her husband on a charge of abandonment. She said her husband had gone to Danville. The warrant was issued, the man returned, was arrested, tried, and the woman had to pay the cost, as she failed to prove the charge. The man then went to Stokesdale, whither his gentle spouse followed and had him arrested again. This time, the story goes, she procured the sum of $30. Together they returned to Greensboro, and stopped at a hotel. Some time during the night, while the "old man" was unexpecting snoring away the hours, it is alleged that Mrs. Southerland arose and went through her husband's pockets, taking away the last cent of money he had and disappeared. When he awoke he found himself penniless, friendless and alone.

The story goes that he had no appetite for breakfast, being minus the price, and for some time walked the streets in solitary loneliness. It was not long, however, before he managed in some way to raise a little cash and took the noon train for Danville.

Soon after his departure, the wife, perhaps having repented of the midnight robbery, reappeared on the scene, and learning whether the old man had gone, boarded the next train for Danville.

The police of this city, from whom this story is obtained, are not informed whether or not Mrs. Southerland has yet overtaken and healed the wounded feelings of her husband by a division of the money, or whether there have been any more arrests for abandonment, or whether there has been an arrest for robbery.

MEMORIAL VOLUME.

The Family of Dr. J. Henry Smith Publishes One for Private Distribution.

The Telegram is indebted to Mrs. J. Henry Smith for a copy of the beautiful memorial volume of her late husband, the late Dr. J. Henry Smith, D. D. The edition was printed by the family for private distribution.

It is a handsome book of some 120 pages, printed on excellent line paper, and bound in beautiful white cloth, with gilt letters stamped on the outside. As a frontispiece appears an engraving of Dr. Smith, with his autograph. The contents are: I. Biographical Sketch; II. Death and Burial; III. Tributes; IV. Memorial; V. Reminiscences. Besides this, there are several portraits of the subject, taken at different ages. The work is just from the press of John Murphy & Co., of Baltimore.

ARRESTED FOR BURGLARY.

Two Negroes Followed Here From Mebane by Mr. S. J. Jones.

Two negroes, Lee Graves and John Jeffries, were arrested here this morning by Chief Scott and Policemen Jeffries, on a warrant sworn out by Mr. S. J. Jones of Mebane, charging them with burglary. Two houses were entered at Mebane Sunday night and at one of them ten dollars in money was stolen. One of the houses broken into was Mr. Jones' and in some way the evidence pointed to the two negroes named above. They boarded the train yesterday at Mebane and Mr. Jones followed them to this city. On alighting from the cars here they disappeared behind a passing freight train.

Mr. Jones had a warrant issued and conferred with the officers, who kept a sharp lookout. At the depot this morning Mr. Jones, who was also watching, spied the men, and notified the officers with the result that they were soon handcuffed and Mr. Jones had the pleasure of escorting them back to Mebane this afternoon.

Meeting at Washington's Street.

Mr. Wildman began his work at the Washington street church last night, by preaching an excellent sermon on prayer. "Asking in Christ's name" was his subject. The earnest attention given the speaker from the first word till the close, showed that the congregation enjoyed the sermon. Mr. Wildman's stay in the city will be short, and those who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity of hearing him, should attend at the beginning of the meeting.

Services every afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and every night at 8.

Tobacco Sold Well Today.

There were good breaks at the tobacco warehouses here today, and the wood brought the highest price that has been known on this market for several years. The farmers were all highly pleased at the results of the sales. As sufficient evidence that they were abundantly satisfied it is noted that in over two hours continuous selling not a single pile of tobacco was taken in by the sellers.

BOUGHT BY AN ASHEVILLE FIRM

The Odell Plumbing Department Sold to J. R. Rich & Son.

The Odell Hardware Company has sold the plumbing department of its mammoth business to Messrs. J. R. Rich & Son, of Asheville. Mr. J. R. Rich, who will assume charge of the business here, has arrived, and will spend several days in acquainting himself with the run of the business. He will formally take charge April 1st. The firm will continue the business in Asheville, the father remaining there, while the son will look after the business here.

In retiring from the plumbing business the Odell Hardware Company feel that they have, during all the years in which they have conducted it, maintained a high standard of excellence in service and workmanship, and they are to be congratulated that the popular verdict warrants them in this feeling.

In turning the business over to Messrs. J. R. Rich & Son they are placing it in competent hands, and are assured by the high standing and reputation of this firm that the same standard of excellence will be maintained, and that pace will be kept with all improvements in the plumbing business.

We heartily welcome this new firm to the city and congratulate them on succeeding to the business of such worthy predecessors.

BROWN'S

Next to the Consumer is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices. First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity. They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price it now costs you. It is a true, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time." And ours is the place to get the stuff.
